

KEIM ECOSIL-ME

A high performance, environmentally friendly mineral paint for interior use

Keim Ecosil-ME is a photocatalytic and highly abrasion-resistant silicate paint for interior use. It has been developed to meet the demand for a truly environmentally friendly paint for interior application. Keim Ecosil-ME is the only internal silicate paint which optimises air quality, making use of the MiNox™ effect.

Water based, solvent free, non allergenic, odourless and breathable it is ideally suited for decoration of interior areas, in particular for people with allergies, and for areas where relocation of occupants during decoration is impractical.

Keim Ecosil-ME is ideal for interior walls and ceilings in heavily frequented areas such as public buildings, schools, offices, wet rooms, hospitals, kitchens etc.

Keim Ecosil-ME is a breathable and anti-condensation paint which forms a microcrystalline structure with the substrate when applied. This allows the free passage of vapour from the substrate whilst preventing ingress of moisture. The microcrystalline structure also gives a high level of light reflectance, resulting in energy savings through reduction in lighting levels.

Keim Ecosil-ME is inherently non-flammable, mould and fungal resistant.

Key Benefits:

- Transforms noxious gases and odours into non-critical substances
- Wet abrasion resistance, class 1
- Highly open to diffusion
- Solvent-free
- Hinders mould due to its mineral-alkaline nature
- Fungi resistant
- Non-flammable
- Suitable for persons with allergies
- Outstanding ecological profile
- Excellent mechanical stability
- Highly scrub-resistant
